Can you really trust what is in another world? Can we trust ourselves with what we find in another world?

Series Synopsis

When miner Juan Gibs goes missing, a secret government agency known as Entrex takeover the investigation and lead a coverup to hide the secrets that they have known for over seventy years about the portal. Robert Torne will uncover the truths about Entrex and reveal them to world.

Episode One Overview

Teaser - Juan Gibs, a miner, discovers a vast world deep within the mine he has been digging. At Entrex H.Q. (masked to society as Medicines Inc.) scientists receive alerts about a supernatural event has occurred in Brazil.

In a private briefing with the directors of Entrex, the Chairman says he has spoken with 'The Above' (The real powers, and those in charge of Entrex who are anonymous) and they want it to be investigated immediately.

Agents Robert Torne and Sophie Miller arrive in Brazil, a new duo and partnership between them in investigating the disappearance. They do not know there is a portal or about the deep secrets that Entrex hold.

At the end of the episode Roel in disguise as Juan Gibbs is found alive and well. But his teenage daughter thinks there is something off. Entrex want Juan to be moved to their secret underground facility for testing, but he has once again disappeared.

Visual Realisation / Important Images

It will be similar to the style of film Annihilation (2018) and the films in the Alien (1979) franchise. There will be a dark and serious tone.

Statement of Intent

The story intentions are to make to entice the audience's curiosity about venturing into unknown world's

What happens when humans fiddle around with the unknown? What happens when humans think they are superior race? What happens when humans discover they are in fact at the bottom of a very large intergalactic food chain?

Audience Appeal

Thriller seekers and those who love plot-twists, unexpected stories and discoveries, similar to that of Lost (2004-2010). There will be plenty of characters to follow with surprising background that may be a shock to the audience.
